3 Quick Tips to Avoid High Winter Bills

Looking for easy ways to lower your energy bills this winter? Here are a few tips from the Department of Energy:

- Open blinds and curtains during the day to allow sunlight in to warm your home. Close them at night to keep cold, drafty air out.
- Wash clothes in cold water, and use cold-water detergent whenever possible.
- Replace incandescent light bulbs with LEDs, which use at least 75% less energy.

NOTICE OF RESIDENTIAL CUSTOMER RIGHTS AND POSSIBLE ASSISTANCE

READ CAREFULLY

The Cold Weather Rule, Section 216B.097 of the Public Utilities Act, provides that a cooperative electric association must not disconnect and must reconnect the utility service of a residential customer during the period between October 1 and April 30 if the disconnection affects the primary heat source for the residential unit and all of the following conditions are met:

1. The household income of the customer is at or below 50 percent of the state median household income. A cooperative electric association utility may (i) verify income on forms it provides or (ii) obtain verification of income from the local energy assistance provider. A customer is deemed to meet the requirements of this clause if the customer receives any form of public assistance, including energy assistance, that uses an income eligibility threshold set at or below 50 percent of the state median household income.
2. A customer enters into and makes reasonably timely payments under a payment agreement that considers the financial resources of the household.
3. A customer receives referrals to energy assistance, weatherization, conservation, or other programs likely to reduce the customer's energy bills.
4. An electric cooperative must between August 15 and October 1 each year, notify all residential customers of the provisions of this section.

The purpose of this notice is to inform you of your rights and responsibilities under the Cold Weather Rule. These rights and responsibilities are designed to help you meet winter utility bills. Minnesota Military Personnel Shut-off Protection

Minnesota's electric military personnel law (Minnesota Statutes Chapter 325E.028) states that an electric cooperative cannot disconnect a residential consumer for non-payment if the following conditions are met:

- He or she has been issued orders into active duty, for deployment, or for a permanent change in duty station during the period of active duty, deployment, or change in duty station if such a residential customer:
- Has a household income below the state median household income or is receiving energy assistance and enters into an agreement with the electric cooperative under which the residential customer pays ten percent of the customer's gross monthly income toward the customer's bill and the residential customer remains reasonably current with those payments; or
- Has a household income above the state median household income and enters into an agreement with the electric cooperative establishing a reasonable payment schedule that considers the financial resources of the household and the residential customer remains reasonably current with payments under the payment schedule.
- The law provides for an appeals process if SVE and the customer are unable to agree on the establishment, reasonableness or modification of any payment schedule or on the reasonable timeliness of payments made. If the customer appeals, the law provides that his or her service will not be disconnected during the appeal process.
